

Maria-Louisa Busuttil is physiotherapist and Manager at the Court Services Agency. She is currently the President of the Malta Association of Physiotherapists. She has a M.Sc. in Health Services Management from the University of Malta, her research interests are regulatory issues, social media practices, cross-border healthcare, and public health. She has served as Chief Executive Officer of the association (2007 - 2015) and as working group member of the European Union Matters Working Group of the European Region of WCPT (2012-2016).

Tim Németh is a physiotherapist, managing his own private practice in Belgium. His interests towards policy and legislation led to a dissertation at WITS University in Johannesburg, South Africa. He combines private practice with research and teaching at Hasselt University. Tim also spends a good amount of time to advocate for the physiotherapy profession on European level (Advocacy and EU Matters workgroup) and on a global level (IPPTA).

Cedric Sciberras graduated in 2004 from UOM with a BSc in Physiotherapy. He worked within the National Health Service from 2005 - 2016. He gained experience working in various hospital settings, however spent a good 8 years working within orthopaedics out-patients team setting. In 2018 graduated from St Mary's University, Twickenham with an MSc in Strength and Conditioning. Since 2016 he as physiotherapist at the National Sport School and he is also as a Strength and Conditioning coach.

Elvira Psaila graduated as a physiotherapist in 2008 and has worked as in both inpatient and outpatient settings within the Public Health Service, and has been practising at the Child Development and Assessment Unit (C.D.A.U.) since 2011. In 2015, Elvira completed a Master of Arts in Disability Studies, where her study focused on bringing to light the experience of disability as lived by a young, physically-disabled child and has now applied to further her studies at Ph.D. level, with her area of study again focusing on the role of active agency and voice in disabled children.

Josef Pace qualified as a Physiotherapist from the University of Malta in 2001, furthered his studies at Masters level in Musculoskeletal Medicine, is a certified MSK Sonographer and has recently satisfied all the criteria to become a Certified Running and Movement Technique Specialist (CRTS) through The Running School in the United Kingdom. He is the owner of PhysioPoint Malta and Director of Rehabilitation of Da Vinci Health. In 2015 he set up the Emergency Department Physiotherapy Service within Mater Dei Hospital where he works as Lead Physiotherapist. As from 2020, he was appointed to the post of Senior Allied Health Practitioner within Mater Dei Hospital. Special interests include MSK sonography, shoulder injuries and dance injury prevention and management.